Virginia Works Hard For Carolina Battle

This contest promises to be the hardest fought and most gruelling of the entire season, and its outcome hazardous, to say the least. North Carolina so far has made no wonderful record, having been beaten by Georgetown and tied by V. M. L. but last Saturday she showed her strength by a decisive defeat of the strong Davidson team.

The local impression is that she has been saying herself all searon for Virben saying players, and Virginia scouts report that mond, but does not look for a walk-over her team as a whole is much better than by any means, and would not be paralyzed last fall's strong eleven. Homewood is by a smash-up of the dope.
